REMARKABLE POINTS ON THE MARKET

The market closed the week with a positive gain on the indexes. The liquidity was above average, especially strong trade during ATC since it was review day for foreign ETFs. However, the indexes only corrected slightly comparing to before ATC. So, VN-Index officially conquered 1,350 points after previous struggles. The main contribution for the market's gain today was the return of banking codes since most codes were in green. This gain also helped spreading the demand on smaller cap codes since some groups also gained again like securities, fertilizer, or medical and drugs.

TECHNICAL POINT OF VIEW

In technical term, VN-Index saw the 3rd gain in a row. The volume increased to above 10 and 20-session average, showing the return of the cash flow. Not just that, the index stayed above MA5 and 20, and RSI and MACD increased, showing that the index is moving positively. However, the index hasn't completely been out of the sideways struggling, as MA20, 50, and 100 are meeting and moving flatly, and the index was still controlled by isosceles triangle model forming from early July until now, with resistant level around 1,350-1,360 points and support around 1,310-1,320 points. Therefore, the index needs to surpass these important levels before seeing clearer trend. For HNX, HNX-Index was positive. It gained and stayed above MA5 and MA5, 10, and 20 differentiated positively, showing that gaining trend was still there and the index might move to challenge sentimental level of 360 points. In general, the market is still struggling but tends to be positive. Therefore, investors should consider keeping a balance, using the shakes to restructure the portfolio on good fundamental codes that can attract strong cash flow.
