Valuation and recommendation

We maintain our target price for PetroVietnam Power Nhon Trach 2 JSC (NT2) at VND28,000, and downgrade our recommendation from Buy to Trading Buy (+12% upside), as the stock price has increased by 15% since our latest update in May 2022. NT2 is currently trading at FY22F P/B of 1.57x, 3.2% higher than its 1-year average P/B (see Figure 1).

Our valuation does not include the following abnormal factors: 1) Further offsetting income incurred by lower mobilization than assigned Qc (electricity volume under the power purchase agreement), which we expected NT2 to record in January 2022; and 2) one-off reimbursements from EVN for foreign-exchange losses in FY15-FY21.

4M22 preliminary results

NT2 announced preliminary 4M22 revenue of VND2,962bn (+31% YoY), equivalent to 36% of FY22 target and 34% of our forecast. We expect 7% YoY higher selling volume and a 23% YoY increase in electricity selling price to positively affect 4M22 topline. The strong growth in selling price was supported by 31% YoY higher gas input price and higher alpha ratio of 79% in 4M22 (4M21: 76%, assigned Qc to total mobilization, see Figure 2).

Earnings forecasts

We forecast flat net profit of VND400bn (-2.2% YoY) in the last-9M22. We expect selling volume to achieve a 35% YoY rise, compared with the last-9M21's low-based output. Nevertheless, we anticipate no offsetting income, with an alpha ratio of 89% (last-9M21: 112%); thus, gross profit will be maintained at VND482bn (-8.7% YoY) in the last-9M22. We expect net financial income to increase to VND-3bn in the last-9M22 (last-9M21: VND-30bn), as NT2 paid off its long-term loans by June 2021, which will help the company to save on financial expenses.

For 2022, we forecast revenue of VND8,676bn (+41% YoY) and net profit of VND560bn (+4.8% YoY), equivalent to 107% and 120% of FY22 guidance in revenue and net profit, respectively. We estimate net cash flow of VND674bn in FY22, versus VND-61bn in FY21.

Risks

Mobilization of NT2 could be lower than our expectation, due to: 1) an increase in gas input price; and 2) higher output of hydropower and renewable energy. According to the National Center for Hydro-Meteorological Forecasting, rainfall tends to be less than multi-year average of monthly rainfall over the Central Highlands and South Vietnam in June–September 2022 (see Figure 3). However, from October to November 2022, rainfall over the Central coastal areas, Central Highlands, and South Vietnam tends to increase, while the odds for La Nina to continue into early-winter 2022 are 55–65%.
